

Tax Hotline

October 07, 2024

INDIAN TRIBUNAL UPHOLDS ELIGIBILITY OF LLC INCORPORATED IN USA TO CLAIM BENEFIT UNDER INDIA-US TAX TREATY

- The Delhi ITAT recently allowed an appeal holding that an LLC is a tax resident of US under Article 4 of the India-USA Treaty by virtue of incorporation.
- The LLC being a resident under Article 4 of the India-USA Treaty by virtue of incorporation and its recognition as a separate existence from its members qualifies as a 'person'.
- An LLC with a single owner is disregarded as separate from its owner unless the LLC elects to be treated as a corporation for US federal income tax purposes. The ability of the LLC to elect its tax classification under US federal supports the legal situation or aspect of the LLC being liable to tax.

Eligibility of fiscally transparent entities ("FTE") to claim benefit under tax treaty has been an issue of litigation in India. Type of entities which are typically considered as FTEs are trusts, partnerships, foundations, limited liability corporation ("LLC") etc. Setting up FTEs such as partnerships and trusts is popular across the world considering the tax efficiency which they offer. FTEs allow income to 'pass through' them i.e. income is taxed at one level and there is no taxation at the entity level. This, however, creates a doubt on whether such entities can claim benefits under tax treaties. Typically, tax authorities contend that such entities do not fall under the definition of 'person' under tax treaties and that they are not a 'resident' in its state of incorporation/location as they are not 'liable to tax'.

The core of the debate lies in the different principles applied by various states with respect to characterization of entity, i.e., whether an entity is taxed as 'taxable unit' or 'fiscally transparent'. While the wording of the tax treaties and treatment given under the domestic law provide an answer to some extent, confusion arises when two contracting states (i.e., resident state and source state) adopt conflicting approaches leading to double taxation or double non-taxation. Certain countries (like Singapore, China, Netherlands etc.) consider partnerships as FTE whereas some countries (like India, Mexico, Hungary etc.) consider partnership as a taxable unit.

Over the years, jurisprudence has developed on whether FTEs can claim benefits under Indian tax treaties. The Supreme Court of India in the landmark Azadi Bachao Andolan case (2003 263 ITR 706 SC) laid down the principle that liability to taxation is a legal situation and payment of tax is a fiscal fact. Essentially, the Supreme Court held that actual payment of tax is not necessarily needed in order to be 'liable to tax'. In context of partnerships, the Tribunal in case of Linklaters LLP (40 SOT 51 Mum 2010) held that considering that one of the fundamental objectives of tax treaties is to provide relief to economic double taxation, even when a partnership firm is taxable in respect of its profits, not in its own hand but in the hands of the partners, as long as the entire income of the partnership firm is taxed in the residence country, treaty benefits cannot be declined. In context of trusts, the Authority for Advance Ruling in case of General Pension Electric Trust ([2005] 280 ITR 425) denied tax treaty benefit to the foreign trust considering that the trust was not subject to tax on account of an exemption under the US tax law.

While Indian Courts have examined whether a foreign trust, a foreign partnership will be entitled to obtain benefit under tax treaty, the recent case (General Motors Company USA vs ACIT (ITA Nos. 2359 & 2360)) is the first case wherein the Indian Tribunal has upheld the ability of an LLC to claim benefit under tax treaty. The taxpayer, an LLC incorporated in USA, claimed benefit of the lower tax rate under Article 12 of the India-US Tax Treaty and offered its income to tax at the rate of 15% instead of 25% (i.e. the tax rate under section 115A of the Income-tax Act, 1961 during the relevant assessment year). The Tribunal ruling underscores the importance of domestic law to determine the classification and manner of taxation of a foreign entity. The Tribunal examined the Publication 3402 of the Department of the Treasury, IRS of the Government of USA on taxation of LLC. The Tribunal noted that in case of one member LLCs, the LLC is classified as an entity disregarded as separate from its owner and its income, deductions, gains, losses and credits are reported on the owner's income tax return. The Tribunal held that the ability of the LLC to elect its tax classification under US federal income tax law supports the aspect of the LLC being liable to tax. Considering the fact that the LLC held a valid TRC, the Tribunal held that it qualified as a body corporate as it fulfilled all requirements of a 'body corporate' in the form of legal recognition of a separate existence of the entity from its member and a perpetual existence distinct from its members. Therefore, the Tribunal held that the LLC qualified as a 'person' under Article 4 of the US Tax Treaty and was eligible to claim benefits under the US Tax Treaty. The decision of Tribunal is welcome as it reinforces the well settled principle that matters relating to status of an entity will be based on the law of the state of incorporation i.e. lex domicilii.

While the decision of the Tribunal is welcome, there may be continued litigation on taxation of FTEs, absent specific clarification by Indian tax authorities. Entities adopting for a pass-through regime in host jurisdictions should evaluate classification under the laws of incorporation and determine eligibility to claim tax treaty benefits accordingly.

Research Papers

Taxing Offshore Indirect Transfers in India

February 28, 2025

Unlocking Corporate Philanthropy

February 27, 2025

Digital Health in India

February 26, 2025

Research Articles

Re-Evaluating Press Note 3 Of 2020: Should India's Land Borders Still Define Foreign Investment Boundaries?

February 04, 2025

INDIA 2025: The Emerging Powerhouse for Private Equity and M&A Deals

January 15, 2025

Key changes to Model Concession Agreements in the Road Sector

January 03, 2025

Audio

CCI's Deal Value Test

February 22, 2025

Securities Market Regulator's Continued Quest Against "Unfiltered" Financial Advice

December 18, 2024

Digital Lending - Part 1 - What's New with NBFC P2Ps

November 19, 2024

NDA Connect

Connect with us at events, conferences and seminars.

NDA Hotline

Click here to view Hotline archives.

Video

Arbitration Amendment Bill 2024: A Few Suggestions | Legally Speaking With Tarun Nangia | NewsX

February 12, 2025

Author:

- Ipsita Agarwalla, Leader, International Tax

(We thank Avani Maheshwari for her valuable contributions and insightful inputs to this hotline).

You can direct your queries or comments to the relevant member.

DISCLAIMER

The contents of this hotline should not be construed as legal opinion. View detailed disclaimer.

This Hotline provides general information existing at the time of preparation. The Hotline is intended as a news update and Nishith Desai Associates neither assumes nor accepts any responsibility for any loss arising to any person acting or refraining from acting as a result of any material contained in this Hotline. It is recommended that professional advice be taken based on the specific facts and circumstances. This Hotline does not substitute the need to refer to the original pronouncements.

This is not a Spam mail. You have received this mail because you have either requested for it or someone must have suggested your name. Since India has no anti-spamming law, we refer to the US directive, which states that a mail cannot be considered Spam if it contains the sender's contact information, which this mail does. In case this mail doesn't concern you, please unsubscribe from mailing list.

What India’s Transition to New Data
Protection Law Means for Global Businesses
January 23, 2025

India 2025: The Emerging
Powerhouse for Private Equity and
M&A Deals
January 16, 2025